

FAQ'S:

Important aspects of real estate continuing education include:

- The standard license cycle is three years. Current licenses are being issued to expire 10-31-12. All licensees require some continuing education every year.
- One of the easiest ways to remember is to just continue to complete 6 clock hours of CE every year. Of those 6 hours, 2 must include law and rules updates each year.
- There is no longer a "waiver" of CE for the first year the license is issued.
- The CE requirements are pro-rated depending upon which year of the three-year cycle the license is issued, but ALL licensees require CE to renew.
- The prorated CE hours for renewal requirements are based on when the license is issued:

License issued between 11-1-09 and 10-31-10 requires 18 hours of CE
License issued between 11-1-10 and 10-31-11 requires 12 hours of CE
License issued between 11-1-11 and 7-1-12 requires 6 hours of CE [120 days prior to the expiration date of licenses, licenses are issued for the next expiration date; Department-wide policy mandates that a license not be issued for a term of less than 4 months; thus licenses issued in July of 2012 will reflect a 10-31-2015 expiration date]
